

ROBIN HOOD

Associate Manager, Research

(mid-level to senior level)

Robin Hood has been called 'one of the most innovative and influential philanthropic organizations of our time' by Fortune Magazine. We have invented, and continue to invent, superior approaches to applying investment principals to philanthropy. We fuel this innovation by recruiting talented, passionate, high performing people and promoting an invigorating and collaborative team environment.

What you'll find at Robin Hood is a highly entrepreneurial organization driven to success by its philosophy, its people and its mission of fighting poverty in New York City. We're committed to the constant pursuit of excellence and the power of good ideas. We are looking to hire new team members with the creativity, initiative and intelligence to help the organization make our approach even more impactful.

Our research analysts are the cornerstone of our fundraising strategy development. They engage in creative, rigorous and long-term strategic analysis that has a direct impact on fundraising decisions and results. Responsibilities include monitoring hedge fund performance and key winning strategies, and identifying top performers as well as strong up and comers within a field. A strong understanding of hedge funds and the finance community is essential.

Robin Hood compensation packages are very competitive with the New York non-profit market.

Visit the Robin Hood website to read the full job description and apply:

<http://www.robinhood.org/leaders-and-staff/career-opportunities/associate-manager-research.aspx>

826 Broadway, 9th floor New York, New York, 10003 telephone 212 227-6601 fax 212 227-6698 www.robinhood.org

Chair Alan D. Schwartz Vice Chair Lee S. Ainslie III Vice Chair Tom Brokaw Vice Chair Daniel S. Och Victoria B. Bjorklund Scott Bommer Peter F. Borish Geoffrey Canada Maurice Chessa Steven A. Cohen Glenn Dubin Marian Wright Edelman Julius Gaudio Jeffrey R. Immelt

Paul Tudor Jones II Peter D. Kiernan III Kenneth G. Langone Mary McCormick Doug Morris Gwyneth Paltrow Robert W. Pittman David Puth

Larry Robbins Max Stone John Sykes Harvey Weinstein Jeff Zucker Executive Director David Saltzman